

E-Seniors organizes a meeting/conference day on the subject of "Games for Health and Active Aging"

You are invited to meet the stakeholders of EXERGAMING (games for health) for seniors on Tuesday October the 19th. The venue is Paris' 11th arrondissement Town Hall. On this occasion, you will be able to attend demonstrations and presentations of European projects conducted around Exergaming.

E-SENIORS organization is known for its activities related to e-Inclusion of elderly and disabled persons. Mainly based on rational and appropriate use of new information and communication technologies, this action helps reducing the digital divide between generations.

Gradually, the target beneficiaries have extended beyond the retirees of a certain age. Therefore, the beneficiaries are also people looking for work - who have never been trained in the use of these tools that have become crucial in everyday life. The needs of these latter groups correspond to the different - simple, friendly and oriented towards "real needs" – approach of our workshops.

However, beyond the practical use of "mail" and "surfing", we understood the importance of intellectual stimulation, the underlying psychological aspects and the opening up of new windows into the current world and knowledge.

This lead us to introduce our audience to cognitive stimulation games which are now much appreciated, based on the use of computer and / or game consoles. And, moreover, in a further step towards "mens sana in corpore sano", to provide physical stimulation - or rehabilitation – exercises in the relaxed form of "exergaming", a trend that consists in "relooking" some gymnastics or physical exercise equipment to adapt them to the actual world.

Again, we wish to give to older audiences, but also people with disabilities or health problems, the benefit of these technological advances.

In order to identify trends and initiatives in these areas, we organize a European meeting on the theme of "Games for Health and Active Aging", during the Blue Week (national week dedicated to pensioners and senior citizens), proposing discussions and practical demonstrations.

On Tuesday, October the 19th (afternoon)

Venue: Paris' 11th arrondissement Town Hall, "Salle des Fêtes".
